

The Museum Van at Lincoln University – you may be able to make out the Cathedral Spires behind the Freezing Fog! We have formed a partnership with The Conservation Dept of De Montfort University, Lincoln, whose students will be conserving and consolidating objects from the Museum collection. The first batch included a coffin plate, various archaeological copper alloy work, an 1889 football cap and the late Victorian cardboard doll's house. We are very pleased and excited that these delicate but highly significant items will now be able to be safely displayed in the new museum.

The museum van in Lincoln

Share this:

Email

Print

Facebook

Twitter

Pocket

WhatsApp

Pinterest

Reddit